TemplateMonster Offers Globe Video Effects Pack at Half- Price!

Brooklyn, New York, February 25th 2010 – TemplateMonster.com, the Internet's largest templates provider, has announced the special offering of the Globe Video Effects Pack from VideoSmash.com.

Globe Video Pack is a set of 10 special video effects of high quality that depict glossy 3D model of the Globe. Each video effect is enclosed into real HD quality (HD 720p) and is musically illustrated. Besides that all video effects from Globe Video Effects Pack were created using the Quicktime JPEG Codec.

From this day on and for a limited time period, the current Globe Video Effects Pack will be offered at a 50% discount price (that will be $19 instead of the $38 full price offered at VideoSmash.com). The terms of purchasing remain the same: the customers purchase any product from TemplateMonster and afterwards they are offered the Globe Video Effects Pack on TemplateMonster checkout.

David Braun, CEO of the Template Monster, said, "We don't know if you have noticed this but among the most popular templates that we deliver for our customers, there is a huge deal of designs based upon an impressive globe imagery. These themes are now extremely sought for, being a token of professional mastery and sensible website design approach. In this case Globe video effects offered within this pack are a great way to enhance the quality of web design and web animations as well as various multimedia presentations, news projects, video production, television, or science. We are happy to share this indispensable treasure with our devoted fans and followers."

Before the Globes video effects pack there was the Abstract video effects pack offered at TemplateMonster on a regular basis, also as a special offer at a 50% discount. This year within the St.Valentine's promo the customers could purchase Heart Flash animation pack available on as a limited-time offer. TemplateMonster and VideoSmash have been in a productive cooperation for almost a year now.
